"De Minimis rules"

From January 2014, companies receiving export-promoting subsidies have to complete a business form in which they specify the subsidies received under the "de minimis" rules. This includes all subsidies received in your current financial year and the two previous years. According to the Trade Council rules, companies themselves are responsible for obtaining the information from all subsidy-administrators. As a service, Act NOW can help with information forms to be used.
